Intertech's 2nd annual European coke conference will draw over 125 attendees to hear 20 experts from the fields of met coal, coke, iron & steel, and international trade and transport to discuss current trends affecting the metallurgical coke industry: supply, demand, pricing, environmental issues, market fluctuations and new technologies. Attendees will have plenty of time to cement business relationships at our 10 networking functions.

Attend for a complete briefing on . . .

- A global market analysis for met coke and met coal
- Chinese coke production, supply, closures, market direction
- The coke market: what does the future hold?
- Coal blends for recovery and nonrecovery ovens
- Strategies for making coke cost competitive
- Rising PCI rates and the impact on coke consumption
- Coke outlook for North America, India, Australia, Ukraine, Poland

Düsseldorf, Germany

Düsseldorf is a modern city that mixes stylish architecture, a rollicking nightlife, and a bustling business district, with its characteristic earthy charm. The conference will be held at the Hilton Düsseldorf, which is located near the cultural, shopping, entertainment and business centres of the city. It is close to the main train station and the fairground and 5.5 kilometres from the airport. Local attractions include Altstadt and the famous Koenigsallee, River Rhine excursions, Benrath Castle and the Kaiserswerth old castle ruins.
